Q: Splitting or joining a string I have been trying to write a script to split a string based on the number after /, for example: /this/is/a/really/long/string/that/could/be/splitted/on/the/number/of/hyphens/here So I want to separate the string into two parts: this/is/a/really/long/string/and/that/could/be/splitted/on/the/number/of/hyphens. I have been using / for the string delimiter but it has done the job. But I also want to use the hyphens for separating each word (that, could and be) and then split up each word. This is just a string that will be split, I do not know what the string looks like or where it comes from. All I know is that it has hyphens. I have also tried different combinations of RegEx but I am not that good with them. So the thing I want to do is to split the string and then split up each word within the main string. Is there some RegEx code that will help me with this? A: Your best option here is to do this in 2 parts. Add a leading / to the string Split the string using the characters you are looking for. Example The easiest way to do this is with the String.Replace method. var s1 = "/this/is/a/really/long/string/that/could/be/splitted/on/the/number/of/ 09e8f5149f"; var s2 = s1.Replace("/", ""); This would then leave a string of this/is/a/really/long/string/that/could/be/splitted/on/the/number/of/
