You may remember our discussion last week about the Russian election interference. The president wasn't far off when he claimed that the media was hysterical about this. It's clearly an issue that we have to deal with. Correspondents we talked to in Washington all seemed to agree that we were talking about a network and not just Russia. David Ignatius from The Washington Post had this to say. DAVID IGNATIUS: I think there are two things that are happening. One is that the Russians are doing this. And we're going to find out how to stop it and we're going to do it. That's going to be our effort, not just against the Russians but against whatever other forces that are trying to destabilize our government. The other thing is that right now we have a very
