Advanced Forum Activation Free

Advanced Forum is a light-weight and powerful forum application, which provides webmasters with the possibility of launching their own bulletin boards on their websites. This application includes various features such as the ability to have a moderator, assign HTML tags to a forum, and moderate it. Also, this application can create up to 4093 forums on a single website. Other features include the ability to have passwords, moderator privileges, a control panel with administrator rights, and more. Installation and Download Before starting the installation, users need to download the file Advanced Forum.exe. This file can be downloaded using a regular web browser such as Internet Explorer or Mozilla. After downloading the file, save it in any folder of your choice on your computer. Once saved, extract the archive using any archive extracting utility. In this case, we used WinZip, which is free. After extracting the archive, Advanced Forum will be present as a file called Advanced Forum.exe. With this file in hand, users need to upload it to their cgi-bin folder. This can be done by opening C:/Program Files/Apache Software Foundation/Apache2.2/cgi-bin in any browser. After this, simply write the address of the cgi-bin folder in the address bar of the browser. For example, if users write forum.cgi, their forum can be accessed through the address forum.cgi. When users are accessing the application for the first time, they will see a login form. This form is for the purpose of allowing only those who know the password to login. In this case, the password is mod_admin. Simply enter the name and password in the appropriate fields, and hit the Login button. In case the login was successful, the forum administration screen will open. Advanced Forum Installation: In order to make sure that the application functions properly, users should read the README.txt file. After clicking the Finish button, users will see a message saying that the application has been successfully installed. Advanced Forum Screen: Once the installation is complete, users can access their forum through the address forum.cgi. At this point, users are presented with the main admin screen, which is the part of the forum administration module. At the top of the screen, users can see various links, including the Create New Forum link. The application enables users to create up to 4093 forums on a single website.

What's New in the Advanced Forum?

Advanced Forum is a tool designed for those website owners interested in implementing various discussions in their sites with a minimum of effort. With the help of this application, users can not only implement discussions on their websites, but they can also assign HTML header and footer to them. Basically, the application has been designed to provide forums with looks similar to those of any other web page. For website owners, this small piece of software can prove a full-featured forum for their products. The tool comes in the form of an executable file that weighs no more than 30kb, which makes it one of the smallest utilities of the kind. However, despite coming in such a lightweight package, the program can still offer powerful capabilities to all users, even to those without advanced computer skills. In order to take advantage of its capabilities, users need to upload the executable file to their cgi-bin, and then simply open a browser and write its address there. The application has been designed with password protection capabilities too, so that only authorized people have access to the administration area of a forum. With the help of this piece of software, users can set a moderator password, while also having the option to provide other people with moderator rights. At the same time, the application can be used to password-protect the access to the forum, or to restrict the posting on the forum to those users who know the password. Advanced Forum ensures that administrators and moderators have full access to all of the necessary management operations, including the right to delete various posts, all directly from the admin area. With the help of this application, website owners can create up to 4093 forums while also enjoying increased stability and reliable operations at all times.
