The diversity reception technique includes, for example, a technique for performing reception using a plurality of antennas and for selecting a signal having the maximum reception power from a plurality of received signals. The maximum power reception method is described in, for example, Non-Patent Document 1. In the maximum power reception method, a base station (AP: Access Point) transms a signal transmitted from a mobile station (STA: Station) with the highest reception power. [Non-Patent Document 1] V.
