Neo-Nazi mugshots have been released after Texas officers arrested a 19-year-old man who was carrying a racist sign in his truck. Michael Daniel Combs was arrested in Waxahachie, 30 miles outside Dallas, on May 20, after officers observed him dropping off a message at a local elementary school, the Dallas Morning

News reported. The newspaper said officers arrested the man because the school principal knew Combs had a history of dropping off messages at the school about Nazi ideology. Combs' mugshot shows a tattoo that reads "14/88" on his left arm. Another tattoo reads "Mexico has a problem. America has a solution. We give jobs," and is written in Spanish and English, with the "08" representing the SS rune. Combs' father, Ed, told The Times Record that his son is mentally ill and has been on the medications and receiving treatment he needs. The father said he believes Combs was taken to a mental hospital to get a mental evaluation. The Times Record said Combs' younger brother, who is

A 44-year-old woman presented with bilateral proptosis, disorientation, and double vision for 1 year. Ophthalmological examination revealed bilateral disc pallor and bilateral 6th nerve palsy. Magnetic resonance imaging demonstrated enlargement of the lateral ventricles with an enhancing, smooth margin of the left lateral ventricle floor. At the time of presentation, the patient complained of only mild palinopsia, but her neurological examination revealed more severe symptoms. The prognosis of this disease is usually good after surgical intervention, but the patient in this case was indicated for early surgery. The processing of a video signal includes various operations, such as a filtering operation, a noise reduction operation, a dynamic range compression operation, a cross-fade operation, a playback operation, or the like, to obtain a processed video signal. The processed video signal obtained through the processing operations has a specific visual effect and is used in a wide field. For example, there is a processing method in which a video signal obtained by a video camera is subjected to a processing operation by a given process to obtain a processed video signal, a luminance difference between the processed video signal and a luminance video signal is detected by a contrast enhancement unit, and a processed
