Best of 3 games is a triple threat! First is Triple Showdown, a classic rock paper scissors game. Next is the classic Breakout with box cushion ball. The last game is a combination of Breakout and Breakout 2, the combo version! Both games are based on the Breakout game engine, and you'll be familiar with how the game works. Please choose a player, and then select whether you want to play against or with the computer. Breakout 2: Time Trial! Time how many lines you can clear, and how long it takes you to do it! Easier than the original Breakout, but still just as addicting! Breakout/Breakout 2 Combo: Time how many lines you can clear, and how long it takes you to do it! Triple Showdown: You are placed in a room with 3 doors, and you are each given a weapon. Lefties can choose up to two weapons, and righties can choose up to 1. The object is to shoot your opponent(s) with the weapon of your choice, before they get to shoot you with theirs! The person who shoots their opponent(s) first wins! Each game has three rounds, with each round focusing on a different rule. Round 1 is the elimination round. In this round, players use their weapon swings to keep their opponents (and their own) from shooting. Round 2 is the attack round. In this round, players swing their weapon to attack the head of the opponent (if they are attacking) or the body (if they are attacked). Round 3 is the bloodbath round. In this round, players swing and bang away, and whoever is hitting the most blocks with their weapon wins! For every opponent you hit, you'll get one point, and that's multiplied by the number of lines cleared! You can keep all the points (and get more for every opponent hit), or you can choose to keep some, and lose others, depending on how close you are to winning! For example, if you get a 5-hit 2-line combo, and you are losing by 1 line, you could keep 5 and lose 5, keep 7 and lose 3, keep 2 and lose 3, or keep 10 and lose 1. The latter gives you a possible 2-line victory! The player to get the most points wins. Ext
