Q: 3D point list conversion and output to CSV I have a large point cloud from point clouds captured from a mobile robot running Simultaneous localization and mapping (SLAM) in ROS. I would like to convert this point cloud into a csv file. In my initial steps, I've converted the point cloud to a point list and visualized the points with a function called 'xyz_plot' from g2o

import * # define ros parameters roscpp_parameters = [] # define point cloud parameters pointcloud_params = [] pointcloud_params.append(tf.contrib.util.load_variable( "tf_variables/PointCloud/counts_1", dtype='float32')) pointcloud_params.append(tf.contrib.util.load_variable(
"tf_variables/PointCloud/xyz", dtype='float32'))
load robot data
robot_data = ros.get_node('robot_data', node_name="robot_data")
count all point cloud points robot_data_points = robot_data.get_all_points()
determine field of points
fld = 'xyz'
read point clouds
data = []
data.append(robot_data_points.xyz[fld])
data.append(fld)
data.append(robot_data_points.xyz[fld])
data.append(tf.nn.sparse_reorder(fld, data)) pointcloud_data = DataContainer.from_vector(data)
Transform point cloud from robot to world frame
tf_transforms = PointTransform.from_rpy( ros.get_node('tf/transform_list', node_name="transform_list"), robot_frame)
update lists
pointcloud_params.append(pointcloud_data) pointcloud_params.append(tf_transforms)
return pointcloud_params

In the video, a woman uses the hose to water her grass and discovers a man tied to the handle of the hose. The woman calls 911 and is on the phone with a 911 operator when the man tries to free himself. "Is the man still there?" the woman asks. "He's still there," the operator says. The woman then hangs up the phone. "It's been going on for two years," the operator says. "It's been going on for two years," the woman answers. Warning: This video may be disturbing to some viewers. It's not clear if the man is tied to the water hose for a full two years. Regardless, the video has received hundreds of thousands of views over the past 24 hours. "I watched this video because I felt it was completely disrespectful to the neighborhood," one commenter wrote. "If this is true, then you know it's going to be a hard fight in a lot of ways," another commenter wrote. "I was shocked and disgusted," another wrote. "Someone's post this online. Do
